

Loving Intelligently

Love is as love does – we should not speak it if we cannot keep it.

Let's not fool ourselves – love is the ONLY reason for living.

Empowerment is love in action, not reaction.

Love is the best medicine to keep our hearts healthy.

As we love another, we more easily love ourselves.

Love one person today – we change the world tomorrow.

Compassion is the fashion for love.

To feel love is to feel safe.

Happiness is seeded from the goodness of loving.

To have love is to give love

To be big is to love big.

Love is liking someone who is not like us, as much as liking someone who is just like us.

Love – if we cannot feel it – we need to find it.

Love is the ice cream of intelligence.

Success is defined not by how much we have, but how well we love.

Learning to love comes from learning to listen.

Be smart – be heart.

Love is the first ingredient of a miracle.

A decision made in love is a decision well made.

Love is being different – not indifferent.

To FIND ourselves – we must get LOST in love.

Loving Intelligently

When in doubt – do the loving thing.

Love is working when we love our work.

Love trumps all.

Do not be fooled – we are born to love.

Love is the three G's: gratitude – goodness – grace.

Love is empowered when we remember why we are here.

Love is living giving.

Do not waste time wishing for love – go fishing for love.

There is no such thing as losing, as long as we are loving.

Love is being right without a fight.

Love is simple – be good to ourselves – be good to others.

Do not make what we don't love about someone more important than what we do love.

Love someone today in a way that they do not love themselves.

Being kind is all we should have in mind.

Do not be fool-hardy – be fool-hearty.

Love is a never-ending story – defend well, tend well, mend well, bend well, lend well.

The foundation of all that is good is built on love.

Love cannot be bought; it must be sought.
