

Utilizing Our Dragon Energy

There is a fusion of all the basic energies that guide us from birth to death. It is believed that the one who harnesses the energy of the dragon will harmonize his or her life. Dragon energy represents protection and control of our wisdom. It illuminates our growth, whether spiritually, intellectually, or emotionally.

We are living in an energy of mal-illumination, which traps our wisdom. This wisdom is something we were born with, and it resonates from our inner being. And when our wisdom gets trapped, our consciousness gets lost. Our consciousness is not localized in our body, but rather, our body is localized in our chosen consciousness. Therefore, it is safe to believe that our dragon energy is really important, as it guides our consciousness into wisdom and protects our consciousness from mal-illumination.

Because we are so busy trying to survive in this world, we don't even realize how much of a limited web we are in. When we face this dilemma in a strong, determined, and courageous way, we suddenly wake up to our potent dragon energy, which reunites us with our greater potential, enlightenment, and mastery.

How mal-illumination shows up

Any belief that we are better or less than someone else

Any decision made in ego or self-will

Any deception or dishonesty

Any need to control others

Any fear that is not called for Any greediness

Any vindictiveness

Any abuse of power

Any resentment

Any manipulation

Any breakdown of morals

Any lack of consciousness

How to Awaken to a Greater Empowerment

We need to free ourselves from lower thought forms and feelings. We have become mindless to our true identity. We need to repair our circuits and re-align ourselves in a cellular way.

Wisdom is the guiding power in the world that protects us from transgressing and falling into traps. We need to tap into our higher knowing of what to renounce in the material world - what to do or not do - who to be with, or not be with- where to go or where not to go. It is time to start asking questions and contemplating some really good and solid answers.

Being in this world is a great opportunity for personal growth and development. It is our actions, words, and thoughts that display the essence of who we are and why we are here. We will not reach our higher and fuller state of being unless we come to understand how to transmute all the things that take us off our power.

The present state of affairs in the world is calling for a higher patterning, which buds from the following:

humbleness

vulnerability

truth

non-attachment

courage generosity understanding balancing the scales of injustice commitment directness

integrity

awareness

Dragon energy operates on a different vibrational frequency; stronger, wiser, and more illuminated.

We are all born with wisdom, and our dragon energy is something we were born with as well. And just as our wisdom diminishes, so does our dragon energy. Where we were a flame, we are now functioning as a pilot light.

We need to trust our intuition more, awaken our psychic gifts, and tap into a universal knowledge that is always available to us. As we start to realize and manifest these gifts, we lift the veils of illusion and counterfeit beliefs. As deception and lies start to dissolve, we see things from a higher and different perspective, and we evolve into a more ascended, safer way of being.

Cosmic abundance is connected to truth and love, so the more we seek truth and demonstrate love, the greater and more fulfilled our life becomes. We then can consider ourselves to be the harbingers for a kinder humanity and a better world.
