

Empowerment Quotes

When empowered, we know...

The reward of power is not what we receive from it, but in what we become by it.

To stop learning is to start dying.

If we escape problems – we escape growth.

When we are in denial about ourselves, we are usually in denial of a situation.

Any fault recognized is already on its way to being corrected.

If we trust, we don't worry – if we worry, it means we don't trust.

An empowered one is one who has unmerited goodness towards others.

Mistakes are the inroads to our intelligence and empowerment.

Heroes may be brave, but not all those who act bravely are heroes.

Empowerment can only be felt if we do not have attachments.

The most important ingredient to empowerment is good listening skills.

Though we must use our head – decisions must truly come from our heart.

Empowerment comes from thinking profoundly about details.

A truly empowered person never flatters anyone where not merited.

Though it's all personal, we know not to take it personally.

Concerning corruption, we repair it with authority.

Be the truth, regardless of popularity.

Lines of black and white can be clouded in an instant of unconsciousness.

It is crucial to move away from inferior elements without feeling superior.

To overcome obstacles, we need to understand the reasoning behind them.

Empowerment stems from determination and is lost through vacillation.

Shame keeps us stuck in our old life – remorse propels us forward to a better life.

Charity transforms a dull life into a divine life.

For compassion to exist, we must depend on our hearts, not our heads.

Without our ability to forgive, love cannot be sustained.

One must be willing to empty in order to become full.

Never be of service to be famous.

Love cannot survive without respect.

We are always empowered when our intentions are pure.

We are fully empowered when we become the answer to someone else's prayers.

Taking care of those less fortunate ensures our good karma.

Perseverance is the determination to not let anything become a detriment.

Our genuineness is the truth of our ingenuity and our genius.

Being mean is meaningless.

To isolate inevitably seals a lonely fate.

When we are liberated from pessimism, we are truly liberated.

It is never worth sacrificing something worthy or worthwhile.

Feeling resentful is but an earlier hell, therefore disempowering.

Empowerment is built and maintained on the microscopic truth.

Our indwelling empowerment reveals itself through our integrity.

Our empowerment is sustained when we never let others invade our sense of what is right.

Empowerment is being fully inspired and intelligently wired.

Caring for the unwanted, no matter who or what is empowerment.