

Warrior Cards

Warriorship is a gift that we all possess. However, with all the challenges in the world today, just to survive in tact, we forget and disconnect from our warrior within. The warrior's dedication is to be great problem solvers, strategists and thrive on justice. This justice is not only for ourselves, but for others in our life and the world at large. We need to remember how strong we really are, how we have the wherewithal to intelligently overcome difficulties and sorrows. Whether we experience defeat or victory, warriors always find the opportunity within the failure. We must never give up on feeling inspired and empowered, which is the purpose of this deck of cards.

Feel Peace of Mind

This card represents harmony and serenity. A breath of fresh air, a condition of mutual respect, dynamic balance and interaction. Positive conditions for attainment of our objectives. Protection from harmful influences, and a feeling of independence, ultimately births more freedom of choice. It is a time when ancestors are known to be involved, watching and cheering us on from the horizon and above.

Be wise and keep that transcendent awareness in mind.

Solve Problems

This card represents deep heaviness that needs to be analyzed. Burdens from the past bring negativity. However, they can also bring enlightenment, and a realization of where our true future lies. Powerful initiation into the truth gives us the opportunity to rebuild on a more solid foundation. Seeing the inherent weaknesses of previous ways of working must be eliminated. It is time for self-inspection, self-accountability, and self-responsibility.

Re-Evaluate Safety

This card represents quiet contemplation. A period to travel through darkness and know what potential dangers lie ahead. The need to remain focused on one's objectives. Avoid distractions or making hasty moves. Watch out for destructive entrapment by following traditional methods that have been learned from experience. Due diligence is a necessity now. Follow guidelines of those who have experienced this path, intelligently and successfully.

Take Down Barriers

This card represents a place of love and heart. There is a sense of everything positive growing in new myriad forms. A period of opportunity to achieve a new sense of personal integration and acceptance. Become free from external disturbances, so barriers can be taken down. Serenity comes from this positivity, and we develop a deep sense of partnership, friendship and belonging. It is time to bask in the quiet warmth of this timeframe.

Overcome Darkness and Despair

This card represents digging beneath the surface of things. An intermediary stage of darkness, loneliness and difficulty. This ultimately calls upon our courage and fortitude. We need to depend more on our intuition and faith. Question everything, look for signs and spiritual perspectives that are imperative. We then intelligently accept that our adversaries and false friends can be our foremost teachers, and every obstacle can bring with it an opportunity.

Unite With Like-Minded Others

This card represents being uniquely united. There must be a major demarcation between the safe areas in our life from the dangerous areas that exist in our life. Therefore, it is time to pull together in a unified, collective manner. Pool resources in order to overcome external dangers and adversities. This is not only necessary for success, but for survival as well. A more serious level of commitment by all players is unquestionably required at this time.

Clean Karma

This card represents cleansing and flowing. Look at all experiences that give rise to feelings of guilt and therefore leave us withholding our highest selves. Take stock of all the times decisions were made that we knew were not right. Face feelings of remorse as a way to unburden ourselves. We then can move on in a more positive and trustworthy way. We leave the past behind, and therefore know the best for our well-being is yet to come.

Experience the Unknown

This card represents a quantum leap in consciousness. Though evolution is thought of as happening gradually, in fact, it often occurs with sudden accelerations. The welcomed intrusion of a new life which brings an important message of ideas and perspective from uncharted waters. Break down what was previously thought was a fixed state of our life. Yield, be open and allow for the wonder of wonders to enter the existing playing field.

Rest and Contemplate

This card represents a journey for our soul and the end of an important cycle. A time to stop, rest and take account of all that has happened. Absorb the experiences and draw important lessons necessary to leap forward. A time to withdraw and reflect in order to recharge our batteries. Study the balance of forces that were against or for us. This time of reflection is imperative for our health, well-being, and already pre-determined success.

Avoid Enticements

This card represents psychological challenges. Time to study knowledge as opposed to theory or thought forms. Renunciate the irrelevant and look for a clearer and deeper meaning to events, people and things. Commit to the true direction and do not fall prey to confusion or emotional problems. Follow the path towards liberation and illumination and help others to do so as well. Be smart and render up that of little value in exchange for that of much greater value.

Overcome and Confront Darkness

This card represents darkness. It is a period of encountering significant and formidable opposition. The need for quick thinking, using every relevant piece of knowledge. Time for strategic and specific timing in order to win over opposing forces. Do not panic and use all the resources available. Find support from others wherever and whenever possible. Be willing to make sacrifices wherever necessary for the greater good for ourselves and others.

Survive Hard Times

This card represents more trouble. A phase of concerted effort and activity towards the achievements of our objectives. Preparation and training to be put to the test. Do not submit to the demands and impositions of others. Back out of what seems out of line. Meet the test which life throws at us with certainty and do not compromise. Be concerned, considering and looking for all alternatives. Last but not least, get prepared and commit to warriorship.

Think and Plan

This card represents a dual meaning in mythology, a place of refuge or a place of limitation. Foolish planning and ill-considered strategy bring about horrible feelings of being blocked in. So, consider all options, and avoid disastrous decisions that cannot be redone. Use this message for a quiet time to study and learn, not for hiding or imprisonment. Great defense comes not from hoping for the best – but from being or becoming the best!

Move Quickly from A to B or C

This card is about horses, who represent freedom and mobility, which comes about through the value of fast action. Take the initiative and be prepared to bypass normal ways of doing things. Communicate important messages in order to avoid misunderstandings. Take the lead and be dedicated to the mission at hand, not allowing anything to stand in the way. Be ready at any given moment to gallop steadily into a new, greener pasture.

Minimize Involvement with Lower Dimensions

This card represents the necessity to put all our energy on the spiritual path. In truth, we are being observed and analyzed by the higher elements. This is not the time for guilt, remorse or feelings of personal inadequacies. It is the time for contemplation and enlightenment, which bring forth sudden and much needed realizations. “I am keeping an eye on you”, and the eye is saying, “I dare you to be the best and highest you can be”.

Quest Hidden Knowledge

This card represents hidden knowledge that is always looking for someone to share with. It carries God's way of bestowing "knowing" to mortal humans. However, receiving this knowledge takes discipline, certainty and removal of attachment. Sacred information, if it is to maintain its intention, is extremely powerful and must be utilized with grace, respect, no ego or manipulation and patience. It is a stone's throw from the house of God.

Tap into Higher Spheres

This card represents the first stage of the Quest. This stage brings about hope and a true belief for a successful outcome. It is the ability to go higher and place faith in the higher realms to bring forth the needed blessings. This also opens a period of regeneration after the ravages of a storm. We are then able to revitalize our open-heartedness, open-mindedness and open-handedness in order to help ourselves and this wounded world.

Radiate Light

This card represents conducting elements that connect 'all that is above to what we can achieve below'. The mandate of the light is to eliminate imbalance and injustice. This involves honesty, directness, intention, inspiration, activation and only being connected to higher-sourced people. Vision and imagination are also required, as they channel powerful, positive energies from on-high. This intelligent activation and application of light forces is more imperative than ever before.

Fight for Freedom

This card represents that which divides. Its purpose is to root out evil and vanquish it thoroughly and completely. It's an opportunity to set right what is wrong. It screams breakthrough, achievement and victory for the protection of ourselves and those unable to defend themselves. It calls for clear objectives and dynamic influence. It is time to take a stand for something worthwhile and virtuous and override that which is dark and dangerous.

Think Nourishment

This card represents birthing and nurturing something or someone. We help ourselves and others to work through trials and tribulations. We wipe away tears and we comfort in time of fear and shame. It is crucial for us to take time for ourselves, so that we can unwind, review and renew. We then become aware of what is finished or completed. Furthermore, we have regained the strength to handle what needs to be done or accomplished.

Guide Ourselves and Others

This card represents the role of a guide or friend who has deep wisdom and understands the innermost thoughts of others. However, one has to be careful when choosing someone to confide in, as some can be manipulative and misleading. As well, one who yearns to be a good guide or friend must be pure of thought, with no attachment. A constant pursuit of knowledge, wisdom and data is needed in order to avoid any manipulation or deception.

Accept Ourselves and Others

This card represents feeling accepted and safe. Trust, understanding and responsibility are at play here. In truth, everyone, including ourselves want to feel accepted and avoid being rejected. Listening and not judging, not only to others, but to ourselves are the two most important steps to thinking in a fresh and more generous way. Then fear, shame and isolation become transformed, fading into the past and empowering the future.

Bask in Success

This card represents renewed growth and restored karma. This is the time of good news and positive developments after a period of intensity, challenges and contradiction. It brings the opportunity to rebuild on a more solid, rooted foundation, which will branch out to more positive developments. There will be sufficient resources and energy, which inevitably leaves us with a feeling of being privileged to be alive and involved at this time.

Honor the Purpose of Trees

This card represent the listening, as tree branches reach into the heavens and their roots reach down into the underworld. Trees do indeed talk; we just have to learn to listen and hear what they are saying. Because things are not always as they seem, the power from the elements has much more to do with outcomes than we ever could have realized or imagined. They give us support when it is inadequate, and they never think to willingly leave our side. They stand tall, firm and steady for us.

Be a Shape-Shifter

This card represents personal freedom, which is valued beyond all else. None of us want to lose our identity, as our individuality is of vast importance and comfort to our being and soul. As shape-changers, we are able to fulfill different roles and become very comfortable with each one. We don't see ourselves as part of the masses, and our rules and experiences are very different from the world at large. Therefore, we inhabit the world uniquely, and we rarely rely on what others think of us.

Know When and How to Advance

This card represents the smart nature of man. There is a need now to avoid confrontation, consider compromise and focus on using our own resourcefulness. This takes fortitude, stoicism and a fine sense of humor. When facing fierce hostility, we do not bite off more than we can chew. Because of this strategy, we develop a sense of acceptance, patience and keen intelligence. We cannot win alone, therefore, it is important to develop a trusted tribe, army or team.

Study All the Variables

This card represents ground soldiers, who know when to listen and take orders. It is not a time for overconfidence when responding to challenges or difficulties. There is little wisdom in not knowing how to protect ourselves, and the consequences can be great and defeating. Diligence and studying the odds is imperative at this time. Know your enemies, have a regard for them and find a good leader to follow. This is what is being called for now.

Master Positive Energies

This card represents great understanding, inspiration and insight. There is a need for an association with those on our own wavelength. A download of higher energies is being brought into our lives. This will fulfill our life's purpose and renew that which has proven positive in our past. Truth will set us free. We must do away with superficiality in order to embrace our role as caretakers of the planet. Be aware that our legacy indeed plays an important role here.

Return to Traditional Values

This card represents family, community and stability. Now is the time to develop the stable, material aspects of our life. We need the determination to manifest this in a tangible sense. Common sense, sense of responsibility and a down-to-earth sense of being is what is called for. The value of home, hearth and family (blood or otherwise) is to be honored, cherished, protected and secured. They are the foundation upon which we will grow and succeed.

Examine Needs of Self

This card represents a time for exploration; the need and ambition to go beyond previous levels of experience. There is a dissatisfaction with what one has previously been comfortable with. The desire for fulfilling our destiny and fate. No time to waste time or wanting to keep things as they are. Apathy and boredom are not part of our consciousness or mindset, as they do not fit into our keen sense of yearning, and self-fulfillment for the bigger picture.

Ready Oneself

This card represents discipline, attention to detail and getting back to our original oaths. Our individual shortcomings and lack of preparation need to be focused on. The greater picture needs to be addressed and fortified. Indefinable concerns, willingness to face fears, self-questioning, problem studying, and attention to detail will serve the highest good.

Remember, do not go where victory is not possible.

Share to Free Others

This card represents the balance of power. Focus on freedom, wherever, or whenever one feels enslaved. Unselfish service is given and received. Rapid movement through obstacles happen with the power of intention over the material plane. We must always answer the call for help. The thought of writing something or someone off is simply out of the question. Sharing, whether big or small, is the one solution that can solve all problems.

Unleash Magical Forces

This card represents the opening of an alternative dimension into our reality, that is the energy of the universe. We develop the distinguishment between that which is relevant and that which is not. One must learn to hasten slowly. This infuses rapid movement through obstacles. Through this out of the box energy field, potentials and plans can be fully and magically realized. Miracles do in fact happen, however, they require belief, discipline and clarity.

Connect to the Mystical Kingdom

This card represents the fulfillment of our dreams and the realization of our ambitions in a safe and secure way. Success is in the air, as is the feeling of positivity. There are no false ideals, or feelings of dissatisfaction. We develop a greater and wiser sense of moderation. There is no confusion about our real priorities and where or what they are. This is as close to an ideal state as one can get. Heaven and Earth have finally become united and unified.

Transcend Life's Previous Limitations

This card represents extreme, good fortune, imparting gifts to our strong abilities. Unseen forces have been working on our behalf and they have come into realization. A turning point, as new opportunities, dedicating our lives to something significant is opening up. Help will be given from unexpected quarters. This enables us to have a direct and positive influence in our personal life and on our world.

We become the leader the world is so in need of.

Link to the Universal Mind

This card represents a 'knowing' subconscious mind that flows and is activated from the Ultimate Source. We connect to a psychic internet, a vast network to which we are individually and collectively intertwined. Working with this expanded knowledge, we eliminate illusions and our unknowing conscious identity. We are then able to infuse an unlimited outlook into our day-to-day life. The oracles mandate is to only focus on what is right, rightful, upright, right-minded and righteous.
